First German Reader

By FRIEDA L. MARTINI

12mo, cloth, 231 pages, with fragen and vocabulary, 70c.

Teachers who are dissatisfied with the German reader in use in their classes—whether because the selections are too difficult for elementary reading, because they do not contain the actual vocabulary of everyday modern life, because they are too long, or because their themes are not such as interest the American student—will be interested in Martini's "First German Reader."

This new reader is written to meet present-day class conditions. The stories, interspersed with simple verses, are unvaryingly easy; they tell of things common to the home and school and play life of the German people of today; they are without exception short and pithy; they are set in words which the student must use constantly if he wishes to express himself in idiomatic German.

The author not only repeats again and again the phrases which have been once used, but she places them in new and entertaining surroundings, thus stimulating the student's memory and holding his interest. Martini's "First German Reader" will be found a book full of new material, easy enough for the first weeks of German work in high school and college, charming, up-to-date, and German to the core.

Latest and Forthcoming Books

Young's Freshman English

By FRANCES BERKELEY YOUNG, and KARL YOUNG, Associate Professor in the University of Wisconsin. 679 pp. 12 mo. - $1.25

This is a substantial revision and material enlargement of Berkeley's Writing from Models. The most important change is the provision in Part I, of chapters on The Planning and Writing of Themes, Paragraphs, Sentences, Punctuation, and Words. With the foundation laid for correctness in writing, Part II deals with the various forms of discourse, taking up first a few general principles and then a number of literary examples.

Allen and Phillipson's Easy German Conversation

By PHILIP SCHUYLER ALLEN, Associate Professor, and PAUL H. PHILLIPSON, Instructor in the University of Chicago. liii + 229 pp. 12 mo. - - - - - 90 cents

This is an absolutely unique book, in the richness of its material and in the ingenuity of its arrangement. Sixteen pictures are provided upon each of which is based a story, a memory exercise and a set of Fragen. In Part II, the pictures serve as the basis for additional stories and exercises for original work.

Daudet and Niox : Récit et Contes de la Guerre de 1870

Edited with questions and vocabulary by MARY S. BRUCE, Instructor in the Brearley School, New York City. vi + 174 pp. 16mo. - - - - - 60 cents

This collection of ten of Daudet's war stories is introduced by a sketch of the Franco-Prussian war by General Niox. All notes are included in the vocabulary. Geographical information and explanations of proper names are there given in French; all other definitions and explanations are, as usual, in English.

READY IN JUNE

Allen's German Life

By PHILIP SCHUYLER ALLEN, Associate Professor in the University of Chicago.

A cultural reader for beginners, which not only furnishes a remarkable vocabulary of everyday objects and scenes, but is further enlivened by those unexpected little turns of humor which characterize Professor Allen's previous readers.

Frenssen : Peter Moors Fahrt nach Südwest

Edited with introduction, notes and vocabulary by HERMAN BABSON, Professor in Purdue University.

A realistic and extremely interesting story of the campaign of the German colonial forces against the Herero in German Southwest Africa during the revolt of 1904.
